Cover: The home that Frank Lloyd Wright designed for Springfield society matron Susan Lawrence Dana. The main house, including a gallery and entertainment wing, was completed in 1904. This photograph comes from a series of views taken in 1955 by Maynard Parker for a projected article in House and Garden magazine; it is provided through the courtesy of Spencer Libraries of the University of Kansas. Donald P. Hallmark, manager of the Dana-Thomas House State Historic Site, begins the history of this unique building on page 113.
