

ILLINOIS

HISTORICAL JOURNAL

Volume 88 / Number 3 / Autumn 1995

Contents

154 Merchants as Models: The Merchandise Mart Hall of Fame and Changing Values in Postwar Chicago

Timothy J. Garvey

173 Hayseed Immigration Policy: "Uncle Joe" Cannon and the Immigration Question

Robert F. Zeidel

189 "The lady candidate": Ruth Hanna McCormick and the Senatorial Election of 1930

Arvarh E. Strickland

203 Book Reviews

220 Picture Credits

Cover: The Merchandise Mart in Chicago was purchased by Joseph P. Kennedy in July of 1945. During the early 1950s, Kennedy founded the Merchants of America Hall of Fame—more commonly known as the Merchandise Mart Hall of Fame—to honor individual leaders in American merchandising. Timothy J. Garvey's article on the history of the Merchandise Mart Hall of Fame begins on page 154.